Jewish and Christian volunteers work to rebuild a stone wall at site of Joshua's Altar on Mount Ebal earlier this month after it was bulldozed by the Palestinian Authority.

There is a well-known saying: "Truth is the first casualty in war."

Ever since the Arabs of the region first attacked the idea of a return to Jewish sovereignty, the truth of the rights and history of Jews in their ancestral and indigenous homeland has been at stake.

While at the turn of the last century, most Arabs knew the strong Jewish connection to the land, there was a strong undercurrent to try and change the narrative.

Ever since the first international recognition of the establishment of a "Jewish home", the Arab leadership decided to embark on the denial of history as a tactic of war.
