Our education system teaches contempt for the Constitution from K to Law School. It began with the so-called "student strike" 52 years ago which was in fact led by Louis Farrakhan's henchmen who came across the bay and entered every classroom saying "This class is closed. Go home." The students, who feared for their lives, obeyed and never came back. The SFPD had officers on campus everyday for 5.5 months trying to keep classes open. The administration capitulated when the Chief of Police said we cannot afford to do this any longer. It was a precursor to today's defund the police movement. Now, after having been taught for many years that America is evil our young people actually believe that anyone who defends America is "a fascist" and a "white supremacist" who deserves to have his teeth knocked out and his right to free speech denied.

<https://youtu.be/z5nSpdsOluo> Again, the Team America 'live feed' replay. Worthwhile to watch the whole 20 minutes of attempted free speech from the speakers' point of view, while they were being pelted with bottles, eggs, broken glass. Most speakers had no chance to speak and were fortunate enough to make a getaway, {also in the video}. They were only able to escape because the police provided a buffer. Credit to the SFPD. {far better service than at the one sided beatdown*** in 2017 at Berkeley where their police department 'stood down', watching old guys waving flags get hospitalized by 'head to toe' black hooded ninjas, and was "assessing the situation" for 2 hours). (**yes, with the singular exception of 'Stickman' belatedly)

To understand America today is to understand 1933 Weimar Germany, That was back in the day where in the US, any questioning/noting of possibly impending formidable danger emanating from Hitlers' 'brownshirt' SA troops would've gotten you greeted with skepticism or disdain, equivalent to today being labeled a "conspiracy theorist". Ironically, current fascist repression is done by well organized core groups who call themselves AntiFa (short for anti fascists), something called 'only an idea & not an actual group' by vocal & admittedly public Donald Trump haters. Another irony is this was--- yes, a call to stop censorship of free speech by conservatives,----yet this was not even a rally for POTUS, nor was it 'a gathering of 'white supremacists, KKK, neo nazis, racists, etc'. as charged by the overwhelmingly counterprotest AntiFa crowd who packed and comprised virtually the whole of the audience. The conservative speakers were varied and of all races. Look at the 'Team America' promos.

A conservative friend who was 3 blocks away, lost, in front of City Hall trying to find the rally stage. reported that AntiFa was directing traffic and essentially cordoned off the perimeter, filtering the crowd, misdirecting those they deemed not sympathetic to their cause at best, while beating down those they seemed certain were conservative (as you can see if you take the time to look at all the pictures, you'll find some who naively showed up with symbols like the American flag or even {unbelievably we know}, a MAGA hat). Note the consequential warm reception they received for doing so in our 'free country' of today. -W 🤔 🤔 🤔
