Subject: Proposed Curriculum

I am adamantly opposed to this initiative for the following reasons:

- > It will further distract from the essential focus we need in public education today - solid academic subjects. Our graduates already suffer in comparison to students from other advanced countries, and other US states.
- > Since the proposal is merely advisory, it serves more as a propaganda tool for the DEI movement than a serious attempt to bolster academic achievement.
- > As is the case with the controversial sex education program, this will only increase parental movement toward home schooling and private educational services, reducing funding for public institutions.
